

(Get free) American Folk

American Folk

Pamela Parmal, Gerald W.R. Ward, Carol Troyen, Abaigeal Duda, Sue Welsh Reed, Gilian Ford Shallcross
audiobook | *ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC

Download

Read Online

#3864211 in Books MFA Publications 2002-06-15Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 .98 x .8 x .791, .0 #File Name: 0878465944112 pages | File size: 35.Mb

Pamela Parmal, Gerald W.R. Ward, Carol Troyen, Abaigeal Duda, Sue Welsh Reed, Gilian Ford Shallcross : American Folk before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised American Folk:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy megVery good condition0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good referenceBy Tabor PorterDated but good reference0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Renee WertmanHappy with my purchase

Folk art has been part of the American idiom for nearly as long as America has been a nation. Today it remains one of the best-loved and most fervently collected forms of American art, a diverse and authentic vernacular expression. This new soft-cover edition of American Folk presents over 60 remarkable objects from one of the country's most prominent collections of folk art. Included are paintings, carvings, textiles, prints, frakturs, furniture, and utilitarian objects, dating from the late eighteenth to the early twentieth century. Such masterpieces as Erastus Salisbury Field's lush The Garden of Eden, E.L. George's surrealistic Child in a Rocking Chair, a complex monumental quilt by former slave Harriet Powers, and Wilhelm Schimmel's extraordinary carved animals appear alongside a remarkable assortment of whirligigs, windmills, decorated chests, figurines and even carousel dogs. Lavishly illustrated, American Folk is a vibrant and engaging introduction to one of the country's proudest cultural traditions. "Many [of these] objects are masterpieces... These works survive as intriguing, often poignant evidence of the circumstances of ordinary lives, and of the need to make art." --Deborah Weisgall, The New York Times

From Library Journal Accompanying the first major exhibit from the folk art collection at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, this volume highlights everyday life in 19th-century America. Written by an interdepartmental staff of curators, including Ward (editor, American Furniture with Related Decorative Arts, 1660-1830) and Carol Troyen (Awash in Color: Homer, Sargent, and the Great American Watercolor), the book provides a sampler of the museum's rich collection of American folk art objects made before 1920. Ward's eloquent introduction defines and describes folk art in general, then discusses the collection's evolution at the museum and its New England focus. Organized into five subject sections, the generous color photographs, with selected detailed enlargements, present a sufficient alternative for those who cannot physically observe the exhibit. Accompanying captions complement each piece with both descriptive and historic information. The authors present an informative, well-researched, and visually accessible volume, whetting the appetite for in-depth reading, which is suggested in the selective bibliography. Despite its regional focus, the work should appeal to aesthetes across the country; recommended for libraries with strong folk and early American art collections. Rebecca Tolley-Stokes, Eastern Tennessee State Univ. Lib., Johnson City Copyright 2001 Reed Business Information, Inc. Ward's eloquent introduction defines and describes folk art in general...An informative, well-researched, and visually accessible volume --Library Journal

About the Author Gerald W.R. Ward is Katharine Lane Weems Curator of American Decorative Arts and Sculpture at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. His previous books include "Elegant Pale: Three Centuries of Precious Metals in New York City", "American Case Furniture in the Mabel Brady Garvan and Other Collections at Yale University", "The Assembly House, The Peirce-Nichols House, Decorative Arts and Household Furnishings in America, 1650-1920" (with Kenneth L. Ames), and, as editor, "Perspectives on American Furniture" and "The American Illustrated Book in the Nineteenth Century". He lives in New Hampshire.