Must have reference By J. Before Curio's became Tribal Art W.D. Webster amassed a currently unheard off amount of tribal art. A big part is still unaccounted for after he auctioned off the entire collection and it was scattered all around the globe . An Incredible amount of items 2000+!! are represented in this book, comparable to the W.O. Oldman catalogs except with bigger pictures. A great reference for Museum curators, auctioneers, dealers and collectors : 5 stars

William Downing Webster (1868 - 1913) was a British ethnographic dealer and collector. In 1895 he began to issue illustrated ethnographic catalogues, 17 with illustrations, 14 with photographs. The 14 catalogues with photographs are color corrected, cleaned and bundled in this publication. This edition includes indexes for object type and region that can be cross referenced to find specific items on exact pages. This publication is meant for academics, researchers and collectors
